Dear Ed,

As always, Pat and I enjoyed the opportunity to have some brief visits with you and Harriet at The Homestead. I hope we can have that quiet evening together here in Washington one of these days.

You were generous in picking up my query about coming to Minneapolis and meeting with you and others in the business community. I'd like to take you up on that and see if 5-6 February might be open on your calendar. My plan would be to arrive in Minneapolis in time for luncheon and to be around until the next morning, when I'd like to be able to make the flight to St. Louis in time for a luncheon there. Whatever you think would be best in between those times would be great.

If this would work out, [redacted] of my staff [redacted] would be my point of contact for any of your staff who might want to work with him.

Pat and I both send our best to you and Harriet. I do hope we'll see you down here before long.

Yours,

STANSFIELD TURNER
